Auction on November 28–29, 2025

Legendary Collection of Hans Herrmann to Be Auctioned

Over 600 lots of trophies, driver helmets, licenses, and unique memorabilia

A once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for motorsport enthusiasts and collectors: the extensive trophy and memorabilia collection of legendary racing driver Hans Herrmann will be offered at auction. More than 600 lots document an extraordinary career and a significant chapter in international motorsport history.

Hans Herrmann, one of the most successful German drivers of the post-war era, shaped motorsport for decades. His collection includes numerous winning trophies, original driver helmets, racing licenses, personal keepsakes, and historic documents. Each item tells its own story and represents unforgettable moments on racetracks around the world.

“This collection is far more than an assembly of trophies – it is a living archive of motorsport. Every piece carries the traces of an era that continues to inspire motorsport fans today,” emphasizes Marcel Seidel, auctioneer and owner of Marcel Seidel Auctions.

The auction gives collectors and enthusiasts the opportunity to acquire a piece of motorsport history and preserve the legacy of an exceptional driver.

About Hans Herrmann

Hans Herrmann (*1928) is one of the great names in international motorsport. He was a factory driver for Mercedes-Benz, Porsche, Maserati, and other marques, and won the 24 Hours of Le Mans for Porsche in 1970.
